a b c d e f g h i Cobo, Leila, Primera Hora (in Spanish), July 19, 2019. ^ "Anuel AA / Daddy Yankee / Karol G / Ozuna / J Balvin - China" (in Dutch). Background "China" was written by Anuel AA, Daddy Yankee, Karol G, Ozuna, and J Balvin, and was produced by Puerto Rican Latin Grammy Award-winner record producer Tainy.[2] Tainy had previously worked with Anuel AA on "Sola" (2016), with Daddy Yankee on "Noche al Entiero" (2006), "Bella y Sensual" and "Si Superas" (2019), with Karol G on "Mi Mala" (2017), with Ozuna on "No Quiero Amores" (2017), and with J Balvin on the majority of his albums Vibras (2018) and Oasis (2019).[3] He had also co-produced the Grammy Award-nominated song "I'm Not Me" (2018) by Cardi B, Bad Bunny, and J Balvin.[4][5] Anuel AA told Billboard in July 2019 that he "had been looking to revive a classic" and chose Shaggy's "It Wasn't Me" because it "hit" him.[2] He started listening to old songs and remembered Shaggy's track from his childhood.[6] He told XXL that "when [he] used to go with the big boys in [his] hood to the club, they put that song on and everybody used to go crazy".[6] He chose to redo "It Wasn't Me" and supposed that there would not be any problems with the release due to Shaggy's collaborations with Hispanic artists.[6] He recorded the song and sent the mix to Daddy Yankee, who "went crazy about it" and finished recording his verse in three days.[2][7] Anuel AA then showed it to his girlfriend Karol G at their home and she opined that it was "the best track [she has] heard from [him]."[8] He wanted her on the record because she liked it and "[they] always help each other" and started to think about "classics that had all the big names in them".[8] After some time, he met Ozuna and showed the song to him, who "went crazy as well" and recorded his part.[7] J Balvin was the last one to record, as the original collaboration did not include him, according to Anuel AA's announcement in April 2019.[7][8][9] Balvin's participation was revealed by Billboard two months later.[8][9] Anuel AA has stated that it is "the strongest song of [his] career up to date".[2] He referred to the track as a "mix of different cultures with each of the collaborators contributing with its own flow".[2] The song's title comes from the "strong Chinese elements" on Shaggy's "It Wasn't Me".[2] Composition "China" has been referred to as a reggaeton and EDM song with a length of five minutes and one second.[8][9][10] It samples and is a Spanish-language adaptation of Jamaican singer Shaggy's 2000 single "It Wasn't Me".[8] Much like "It Wasn't Me", the lyrics to "China" speak of infidelity and getting caught red-handed.[9] Jessica Roiz of Billboard wrote that the song is about "meeting someone at the club, having a good time and forgetting about their significant other".[9] In addition to the song's sample, the song also interpolates lyrics from Daddy Yankee's 2007 single "Ella Me Levanto".[11] Billboard's Leila Cobo described the song as a "reggaeton explosion", while Jessica Roiz referred to it as "a fun Latin urban-meets-EDM" and a "Latin-EDM twist" to Shaggy's "It Wasn't Me".[8][9][11] Suzy Exposito of Rolling Stone described it as "an EDM-reggaeton rework of Shaggy's 2000 cheaters' anthem".[10] Release and reception "China" was made available for digital download and online streaming on July 19, 2019, by Anuel AA's record label Real Hasta la Muerte.[12] Leila Cobo of Billboard wrote that the song "is the trap star's ultimate redemption" which "allows each artist to shine in an eminently danceable and commercially proven track that stays true to the original while managing to be completely refreshing".[8] Suzy Exposito of Rolling Stone stated that Anuel AA "strikes gold" with the song.[10] Raúl Gillett of Spanish music website Jenesaispop praised the chorus and "that strident 'Mi Gente'-style trumpet that has been exploited so much in recent years".[13] He also wrote that the song could become reggaeton's summer hit in Spain due to the performers' fame and its "undeniable magnetism".[13] In order to promote the song, Anuel AA encouraged people on social media to take part of the China Challenge, which consists of uploading a video dancing to the song, imitating the movements of a person in a wheelchair.[14] Editors of Spanish newspaper El País wrote that numerous Instagram users criticized it for being "a mockery to people in wheelchairs".[17] Anuel AA explained that the dance move was based on a scene from Walt Disney Productions' 1940 film Pinocchio.[18] Commercial performance In the United States, "China" debuted at number two on Billboard's Hot Latin Songs chart on the issue dated August 3, 2019, and topped both the Latin Songs and Latin Streaming Songs charts with 290 million and 14.1 million streams.[2] The single subsequently peaked at number one on the chart since its inception in 1986.[2] It also became J Balvin's sixth number-one on the list.[20][21][22][23] On the US Billboard Hot 100, the song peaked at number 52 on the week ending August 10, 2019, becoming Anuel AA's third top 10 hit on the chart since its inception in 2017.[2] It also became J Balvin's sixth number-one on the list.[20][21][22][23] On the week ending August 17, 2019, becoming Anuel AA's fourth top 10
